COLORADO'S POWER PATHWAY

PUBLIC OPEN HOUSES

Please join us to provide input on transmission line routes
and substation locations

Open for additional details

Xcel Energy continues to make progress identifying potential locations for Colorado’s Power Pathway. Please join us at one of our upcoming in-person public open houses to provide input about our revised transmission line routes and substation site options. We want to hear from you about this important project and any topics we should consider in your area.

No formal presentation is planned, so please attend at any time during the open house. If you are unable to attend, meeting materials and an electronic comment form will be posted at ColoradosPowerPathway.com.

Project staff will be available to provide information about transmission line routing activities and answer questions about the new transmission line project, including the overall timeline, route options, construction processes and topics related to easements and right-of-way.

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Colorado’s Power Pathway is a $1.7 to $2 billion investment proposed by Xcel Energy to improve the state’s electric grid and enable future renewable energy development around the state. This project will increase electric reliability, boost the regional economy and create jobs during construction. We estimate the system will cross more than a dozen counties and include:

- Approximately 560-650 miles of new high-voltage transmission infrastructure
- Four new and four expanded substations

If approved, construction could begin in 2023 and the first transmission segments could be in service in 2025, with other segments completed in 2026 and 2027.
